

The eyes, ears and paddles of Cannery Row

and Elkhorn Slough

R. Busman photo

Dani Lori on patrol with Team OCEAN.

Lauren Hanneman knows exactly why she became part of Team OCEAN.

“Being surrounded by seal pups, barking sea lions, endangered otters and countless birds – isn’t that every conservationist’s dream? And to get paid to talk to people about the things I love so much,” she says.

“Or perhaps hanging out at seal bend and being surrounded by plunge-diving pelicans and terns during a feeding frenzy. I am a wetlands enthusiast; I cannot imagine anywhere else I would want to be, except for other wetland systems.”

Pelicans and cormorants at Cannery Row.